Sr. Louis, September 16-1 a. m.-The republican state convention met here yesterday and placed a full ticket in the field. The state is so overwhelmingly democratic that it is scarcely expected that any person nominated will be elected. The gubernatorial nominee is Col. D. P. Dyer, a lawyer of this city, of high standing and popularity. He has already held several important offices in the state, and was prosecuting attorney during the progress of the whisky ring trials. R. T. Van Horn, of the Kansas City Journal, was Col. Dyer's opponent. The others on the ticket are Milo D. Blair, of Sedalia, lieutenant governor; James C. tension. pecial Dispatch to The Bee. CHICAGO, September 16-1 a. m. By a recent court decision the Wes ern Indiana railroad is granted the right of way into this city to Van Burn street. Tuesday night the Illinois Central company placed a string of locomotives on their track at Sixteenth and Clark streets where it was expected the Western Indiana would undertake to cross with their track laying during the night. Trouble was anticipated and a gang of police was on hand. The track layers managed to unhitch and remove the locomotives. One of the engineers, Peter Whalen, being enraged, threw the throttle open and attempted to run down the gang of workmen, which he would have done had not the police succeeded in stopping the engine and saving their Whalen was arrested and fined

$100. A MIDNIGHT ROW.

Open hostilities between the Western Indiana railway and the city authorities were begun last evening. The railway people, apprehending interference on the part of the city in laying its tracks across the streets from Twelfth to Van Buren, it applied to the court for an injunction restraining such interference by the people, but a counter application for a writ to restrain the railway people from proceeding with track laying was made. The railway obtained a United States writ but the city did not. The railway men then magnanimously invited the city authorities to attend more seasonable time, when the city engineer could be present. The company declined to wait and went ahead with the work. Thereupon Fegarty the vicinity to prevent further work A scene of rlot immediately followed. It is not said whether anyone was injured, but the citizens completely overpowered the workmen, piled up the railroad ties and burned them, placed rails in the fire and bent or broke them.
